The Pearce Museum

In 1991, Charles S. Pearce, Jr. purchased a gift for his wife, Peggy. That gift was a letter from the battlefield at Antietam written by Joshua Lawrence Chamberlain to his wife, Fanny. This letter would spark an ongoing interest in the collection of Civil War Documents. In 1996, they graciously donated that collection to Navarro College. Since that time, it has grown significantly.

Charles and Peggy started collecting art when they lived in Santa Fe, New Mexico, home to many contemporary Western artists. Through the works of living artists, they wanted each piece to tell a part of the story of the great American West. As this unique collection grew, it also needed a home.

Navarro College and the Pearce

Museum are thankful to have such generous benefactors and significant collections.
